

Family Career Exploration & Resource Fair

Monday, August 11
1-3 p.m.

Crookston Public Library
110 North Ash Street, Crookston

“Color Your Future One Career at a Time”

Families and job seekers of all ages are invited to attend this FREE event to learn more about what's available at the local library, including CareerForce Corner services to help people explore careers and find employment.

Engaging activities for children include a coloring station to help them think about their future and what they would like to be when they grow up.

Representatives from eight local community service providers will also be available to talk with families about resources available to them.
